presentation was made with hopes Cooper would not forget his years at OSR — as more than 250 friends and associates feted the new state official at the Blue Dolphin. The sculpture was designed by Don McKim, machine shop instructor, and executed by inmate George Kiss, a trained art-metal sculptor. (Photo by Otto Schmidt).
